World tropical sawn hardwood exports

This policy has been encouraged in countries such as Indonesia, where population pressure and overcrowding in cities. In the Brazilian Amazon it is reported that the governor has distributed free chainsaws as a means of increasing the local people for his political party.

The rate of forest destruction is generally increasing; it is the result of commercial logging and cattle ranchers who burn the forest. In the commercial logging, these people would not have been able to clear the land if the farmers are not the cause of the destruction. The poverty and the gross corruption at the government level.

For tropical timber, the increasingly deforested nations has also been a contributing factor. It is not clear what proportion of forest loss can be attributed to commercial logging and to small farmers. Although estimates vary, logging itself accounts for less than 25 per cent. The world trade in tropical timber is seen as an important factor in the depletion and destruction of the world's prime timber market. About one third of the tropical timber has been lost.

In Asia, first the Philippines, Sabah, and Sarawak were plundered by the Japanese. Japan's appetite for tropical timber has been insatiable. The Japanese have been reported to be using the logs in a variety of ways. In Guyana, the beginning

Much of the fine timber imported into Japan is made into plywood and put to such wasteful uses as propping up shuttering for setting concrete. This is typically discarded after one or two uses. But because it has been of good quality and cheap the practice continues, although

In the Brazilian province of Amazonas it is reported that the governor has been handing out free chainsaws as a means of increasing support from the local people.

The wood is often treated to make it suitable for many uses. A 1980 survey found that 100 square metres of plywood could be used for a concrete floor-area in a house, for example. Each time 44 per cent of the wood is lost.

With supplies of cheap, high quality timber from South East Asia waning, Japan is beginning to eye Brazil as a future source of wood. One of Japan's largest log importers was recently quoted as saying: "The depletion of tropical timber resources in South East Asia has

MOUNTAIN SCULPIN.

Sacramento Pike was considered of election, and so did not vote.

Salmon: "Those in favor of Sacramento Perch.—Trout, Stickleback, Viviparous Perch."

"Those in favor of Mountain Sculpin.—Primarily Sculpin, Mountain Sculpin."

Sucker did not vote. He had been elected by Sacramento Pike to vote for him, and it would be going to treason to vote for a fish having teeth in his mouth.

"Sacramento Pike is the choice of the convention. He will please come forward and take charge of the meeting."

And all the minnows stood on their heads or tipped their fins in applause as Sacramento Pike took the place of Quinnat Salmon.

Chairman (gaping his mouth in acknowledgment of the honor accorded him, whereupon Roach and Dace sojourned on the grass near shore): "The purpose of this meeting is to give our knowledge of each other [the trout, sculpin, and Dace thought they were already too well known by the fact that they introduced new members, and to provide for the future. According to custom, each species, through its representative, will give an account of itself, whereupon they will have taken up their residence in the basin since they have been elected, and bring up any other matter that may seem worthy of consideration. You will please speak, without being interrupted, in the order in which your names occur in the list." Check-list. The time is now at your disposal.

WESTERN SUCKER.

Western Sucker: "You may always know me by my big warty lips. Only suckers have such lips, and my species is the only sucker that travels over the entire Sacramento Basin; therefore I need give no further description of myself."

The situation at Greenham Common is desperate and urgent. There have been 8 or 9 flourishing women's peace camps there, there are now only 6, with a handful of tired and depressed women left each. After the cold and wet weather of during the winter, the women and frequent evictions, they need help NOW. They do not need piles of money - they need food, clothing, shelter, and a chance to live as decent human beings. The police who are in a better position than the peace women will do no harm.

Humboldt Roadside

The Humboldt County Citizens' Committee, which has been working for the removal of roadside signs, has won a significant victory. The committee, led by Mrs. J. W. Smith, has successfully petitioned the State Highway Commission to remove the signs from the roadside. The signs, which were placed on the roadside by the State Highway Commission, were found to be a nuisance to the citizens of Humboldt County. The committee has been working for several months to remove the signs, and their efforts have been rewarded. The signs will be removed from the roadside by the State Highway Commission. The committee is proud of their achievement and hopes that other citizens will follow their lead.

A black and white photograph showing a large crowd of people gathered on a street. In the foreground, a line of people stands facing away from the camera, looking towards the crowd. The background is filled with many more people, some standing and some sitting, creating a sense of a large gathering or protest. The image is grainy and has a high-contrast, almost stencil-like quality.
